BeBoBabies Series

toddler
14 x 14 cm
boardbook
30 pp

- Disarming stories about a nursery group for toddlers
- Charming illustrations, lovable characters, humor, and relatable everyday moments that every child will recognize
- Simple, catchy text with rhyming elements that encourage repeated reading

In the nursery group, there's always something happening! Meet the BeBoBabies – an adorable bunch of little heroes of a brand new series BeBoBabies.

Each book in the series presents a familiar toddler activity – often linked to a specific emotion – in the charming, one-of-a-kind, and comical way of the BeBoBabies. With lovable animal characters, simple texts featuring rhyming elements, and situations every little one can relate to, these stories will captivate the youngest readers, make them laugh, and encourage them to read again and again.

The Precious Poop

picture book

20 x 27 cm

hardcover

32 pp

- Can Poop Become The Precious Treasure? Yes—when someone very greedy discovers that others cannot live without it
- A witty picture book about greed leading to disaster

In the lands of an evil, greedy lord, nothing is free—not even poop. When the ruler realizes how valuable and essential it is for the dung beetles, he immediately demands payment. And since the beetles have no money, they are forbidden from collecting it. To make sure no one breaks his ban, the lord decides to gather all the poop in his kingdom and store it in a grand vault. Will the beetles manage to reclaim the substance they need to survive?

The Precious Poop was awarded the Grand Jury Prize at the Clairvoyants 2024 International Competition for illustrated children's book projects.

From the verdict of the Clairvoyants Jury: 'The Precious Poop is not, as it might initially seem, just another book on a controversial topic. It is a universal tale about the disastrous effects of human greed as well as a thoroughly contemporary satire on predatory capitalism, which allows privileged individuals to exploit the weaker.'

Fables for Ida

illustrated short stories

12.3 x 16.5 cm

hardcover

128 pp

- Poignant, playful storytelling meets witty and expressive illustrations
- Unique characters facing real-life struggles

An offended turtle, a lost dog, an adventure-seeking fly—these extraordinary stories by an acclaimed Polish writer are thought-provoking and unconventional modern fables about animals in a human world.

What will a turtle find after burying itself underground because its owner prefers a computer over its company? Who will a dog choose when its owners no longer want to be together? Can a bacterium that has only ever known the inside of a laboratory ever see the stars? And can the delicate wings of a butterfly save someone's life?

Mikołaj Łoziński, an award-winning Polish writer and screenwriter, crafts intimate stories with unexpected protagonists, creating a microcosm of human-animal relationships where difficult emotions are not avoided. However, they are balanced with a playful sense of humor and an optimistic belief in universal values such as friendship, loyalty, compassion, and courage. His unique fables are complemented by Ewa Stiasny's expressive and witty illustrations.

- 12th volume of a long-selling Series For Inquisitives
- Non fiction filled with insights regarding geography, history and culture
- Includes small glossary and recipes

Do you want to explore the land of djinns, tagines, Bedouins, and flying carpets? The twelfth volume of the World for the Inquisitives series will take you on a fascinating oriental journey to Morocco!

How do you pickle a lemon? What's the difference between a husband and a foot? How much sugar can fit in a cup of tea? Where do demigods rest?

You'll find the answers to these questions—and many more—in Morocco.

The World for the Inquisitives series explores the cultures of different countries—telling stories about places, people, landmarks, dishes, and concepts that almost everyone has heard of but few truly know the stories behind. It also introduces lesser-known aspects of each culture that are well worth discovering.

The Byte-Verses

illustrated chapter book

15 x 20 cm

hardcover

224 pp

- Witty, fast-paced adventure for fans of gaming, and tech-inspired adventures
- Written by a best-selling, award-winning Polish author

Drats, not another cosmic adventure!

Tolo is a curious type of byte, but he's not one to rush into any drama. Even if that drama falls straight down from the sky – nearly smashing him into a pancake in the process.

This playfully subversive fantasy adventure from best-selling author Marcin Szczygielski captures the spirit of Terry Pratchett and transports it into the digital world of byte-sized beings.

Tolo and Octana also tackle some hard-hitting existential questions: Should we believe everything grownups say? Do those who claim to care about always tell the truth? And what do we do when we start asking questions and the disk below our feet starts to feel like it's slipping?

- A new release by creators of Maps and Under Earth, Under Water
- A new design: a gamebook and search-and-find book in one
- A huge number of quests to solve for over 30 hrs of fun

2 books, over 250 stickers and countless hours of fun!

Today, the City of a Dancing Carp is even more lively than usual. Why? Because the huge annual festival starts tomorrow! Everybody is preparing. Craftsmen are hard at work, delivery boats arrive at the harbour one after the other, and the guests from nearby cities are getting closer. But not everything is as it should be.

In one of the neighbourhoods, a mysterious illness is spreading, a giant is bathing in the harbour, the magical experiments cause unforeseen consequences, and angry zombies keep shuffling through the cemetery. Can it all be fixed? Well, it all depends on you!

ELEMENTS OF THE GAME

HOW TO PLAY

1 Begin with the book with illustrations. There you'll find numbers that lead you to the text book. Chose any number on any illustration, there is no set order.

166 — Mam już dość. usłyszą, od razu kże zaraz ktoś umrze". Nie chcę pewno może się przydać do cz zapowiadać jakieś radosne wyd
Jeśli masz hasło Poszukiwani

2 In "The Traveler" read the excerpt marked with the same number. This way, you'll find out what happens on the illustration. Try to solve the quest and find what is lost in the city.

3 Place the stickers only when the text tells you to do so. Each of them fits to a specific place within the book.

Feelings and Wisdom

picture book
20 x 25 cm
hardcover
66 pp

- Another title in the best-selling series of 'Feelings'
- A bestselling series, sold in over 170 000 copies worldwide and translated into over 30 languages

What can Wisdom learn from Feelings?

Here comes the new book from the bestselling, affectionate series!

How can you name the feeling when your words fail? What does Yearning, who wanders the dunes looking for her place on earth, miss? When is the time to use some Common Sense? Those questions stay on Wisdom's mind, while she observes the feelings. They constantly inspire and surprise her. She keeps learning from them.

Heart or brain? Wisdom or feelings? Both! – say Tina Oziewicz and Aleksandra Zajac. Because where would feelings lead us if Wisdom wasn't looking kindly at them? And what would our mind become, if it didn't listen to what the heart tells us?

- Immersive and mysterious short stories by a Polish writer compared to Edgar Allan Poe and H.P. Lovecraft
- Accompanied by an expressive and atmospheric graphic design

Mysterious alarms, ghost trains, a railway that usually comes to a dead end but then changes into a crossing to other dimensions - the, at first sight, rational and predictable world of railroads turns into a cosmos full of dark mysteries under Grabiński's pen. This cosmos is full of strange characters: people possessed by the railway, who react to the power and wild speed of the machine like to the strongest, consciousness-altering drug. Its hypnotic power and the wondrous aura of the railroad universe, which vibrates from the forebodings and omens of the incoming disaster, emanates from the evocative illustrations done by Rita Kaczmarek. No wonder that thanks to those short stories, Stefan Grabiński was named "the creator of railroad horror".

— Nie ruszajcie go! To grzyb trujący! — wołała już z daleka.

Dzieci uniosły głowy i spojrzały na panią ze zdziwie-niem:

— Przecież my o tym wiemy — powiedział mały chłopiec. — Każdy przedszkolak wie, że muchomorów się nie je.

— Ale za to — dorzuciła dziewczynka — jakie one są ładne!

— Tak, to chyba najładniejsze grzyby na świecie — powiedziała druga dziewczynka i dzieci, jedno przez drugie, zaczęły zachwalać muchomorka:

— Jak z obrzaka!

— Albo z bajki!

— Jak domek krasnoludków.

— Jak kolorowy kwiat.

W tej właśnie chwili mały chłopiec wysypał muszelki z kieszeni spodni na środek stołu. Było wiele śmiechu i hałasu, bo każda potoczyła się w inną stronę. Mako-ron był najłżejszy, więc poleciał najdalej, aż na samą krawędź. Próbował się zatrzymać, ale nie udało się i spadł prosto w gąszcz dywanu.

W gąszczu dywanu mieszkało wiele najrozmaitszych stworzeń. Jedne były sympatyczne i te powiedziały mu „Dzień dobry!”, inne były niesympatyczne i z nikim się nie witały. Ale najgorsze były Brudy. Każdy miał gęstą, zmierzwiłą brodę, małe oczka i krzywe, nigdy niemy-te zęby. Kiedy zobaczyły muszelkę z makaronu, zaczęły pogwizdywać i zwolować się w wielką kudłatą bandę. hardcover
200 pp

- By the bestselling author of Bees and Trees
- A compendium on the history of hygiene
- Filled with full page illustrations

For millions of people each day begins the same way: we get out of bed, go to the bathroom and wash ourselves. But it wasn't always like that. Only in 18th century, Louis Pasteur proved that dirt is full of dangerous germs. The school curriculum was then changed to include personal hygiene classes, but the hygiene still applied only to the visible bodily parts, such as hands and face. Dirt will unravel this, and many other mysteries surrounding our everyday habits that led us to today's standards of cleanliness.
